AMERICAN AMBASSADOR AT LONDON PRESENTS GERMAN PEACE PROPOSAL TO BRITISH.

LOYD-GEORGE TO TALK

Chancellor Law Announces In Commons That Premier Will Present Outline of His Policy on Tuesday.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] London, Dec. 18.—The peace note of the Central Powers was handed to the British government today by Walter H. Page, the American ambassador.

Mr. Page called at the foreign office early in the day. In the absence of A. J. Balfour, the foreign secretary, he presented the note to Lord Robert Cecil, under secretary for foreign affairs.

There were no formalities in connection with the presentation of the peace proposals by Mr. Page. It has been rumored that the notes contained new terms, and the impression prevails in official circles that until these are disclosed a conference is impossible.

Slight Chance of Results.

The Westminster Gazette, which all along has held staunchly to the position that the German peace proposals should receive a serious reply, commenting today on the statement that the note contains no new terms, says: "If the German note contains no details and is merely a repetition of the proposals of the last year, the prospects of settling an immediate result is exceedingly slight."

Lloyd-George to Talk.

Chancellor of the Exchequer, A. Bonar Law, yesterday announced in the house of commons at noon that Premier Lloyd-George would be present on Tuesday to make his statement regarding the British government's policy.

Attitude of Vatican.

Rome, via Paris, Dec. 18.—Pope Benedict has no intention of attending to mediating among the belligerents at present, according to a statement issued today by the Vatican. The statement says that neither the Pope nor the Holy See have made or will make any comment regarding German peace proposals, and therefore any announcements attributed to them are unfounded.

Urges Peace Consideration.

Paris, Dec. 18.—The socialist federation of the Paris district has adopted a resolution giving favorable consideration of the peace proposals, and an attempt to bring about a resumption of the international relations. The resolution emphasizes the possibility of these relations, with specific reference to peace negotiations on the condition that the peace proposals be defined basis be submitted by Germany and her allies.

The entente governments are invited in the resolution not to reject any peace proposals without serious consideration and to submit such proposals to their respective parliaments. It is argued that a summary refusal would be probably counted upon by the entente enemies and would be a blow to the moral power while increasing that of its opponent.

It is further urged that the more the proposals of the central powers are inappreciable to denounce them to the world and to show by immediate counter proposals what they regard as the indispensable objects of the war.

MANITOWOC ASSEMBLYMAN
PLANS NEW AUTO LAW

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Manitowoc, Wis., Dec. 18.—Asserting that too many persons are killed by careless automobile drivers, Assemblyman Carl Handson of Manitowoc is preparing a bill to be introduced in the next session of the Wisconsin legislature in January. It would amend the present automobile laws so that persons taking on the highways would be given a full and complete education in the use of the automobile.

My bill to give every person driving an automobile a complete copy of the laws affecting automobiles would be a safety first measure, starting a campaign in which the operator of the car would be educated," said Handson. "I think it would result in a reduction in the number of accidents in the state."

LOYDS REPORTS SINKING OF STEAMER WESTMINSTER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] London, Dec. 18.—Lloyds report the sinking of the British steamer Westminster.

The vessel referred to probably is the 424-ton steamship of that name built in 1905, and owned in London. There is also a British steamship Westminster of 252 tons, owned in Genoa.

THESE CONCERNS HAVE VALUATIONS INCREASED

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Dec. 18.—In a preliminary report by the state tax commission the valuation of the freight, iron and equipment companies of the state have been increased from $970,000 to $1,123,000. The value of the sleeping car companies has been increased from $2,200,000 to $2,500,000. The value of the express companies from $1,200,000 to $1,350,000. The value of the telephone companies from $2,385,000 to $2,885,000. The value of the Western Union Telegraph company alone has been increased from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000.

TWO NEW KINGDOMS GERMAN INSIST ON IN PROPOSED TERMS OF PEACE

NO CHEAP TOURS
POSSIBLE ABROAD
WHEN WAR CLOSES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Vienna, Dec. 18.—Cheap tours through Europe are considered over for ever by men qualified to speak on the subject. The days in which a dollar doubled and tripled in value by crossing the border are considered gone. The increase in the cost of labor, taxation due to the war, the wear and tear on all means of travel, augmented by the neglect which the war has brought about, and the great general economic and waste incident to the present times have removed Central Europe from the list of places where one could spend a few weeks in great comfort and still save the price of a first class steam ticket. Travel after the war will be as expensive in Europe as in the United States, if not more so, some believe.

At the present time such a thing as an empty room in a Vienna hotel has ceased to be. Nowadays a room worth having in Vienna can be obtained only by getting one's name on the waiting list, and even that is impossible, if the would-be patron is unknown to the management. Visitors still under the impression that Vienna hotels are run on the old basis usually spend hours after their arrival trying to find a room and then end up by sleeping in some hotel corridor or on the street.

Those unlucky enough to reach Vienna with a night train may spend their first night in the station and one of the best Vienna hotels the price for a suite of two rooms and bath went up by 25 crowns a few days ago, this increase being incident to the fact that which added from two to five crowns to even the plainest rooms. In Budapest conditions are possibly a trifle worse. Even Sofia is seeing a rise in prices. In the Balkans, and Constantinople, boasting of but two first-class, and three second-class, hotels, has become almost impossible for the traveler.

The cause for this is the same everywhere. The war prevents people from going to the wintering places in the South, and the wintering places in the North, and the large cities. Refugees from districts in the war zones, and the many officers on leave of absence or convalescence, make the situation in the wintering places, and the many officers on leave of absence or convalescence, make the situation in the wintering places, and the many officers on leave of absence or convalescence, make the situation in the wintering places.

FOG AT PITTSBURGH
TURNS DAY TO NIGHT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 18.—Pittsburgh today experienced what weather observers said was the darkest day in its history. At nine o'clock the streets even in the suburbs were black as the ordinary midnight, with electric lamps on full force and automobiles and street cars lighted to the full extent of their power. All traffic was seriously impeded, particularly on the railroads, where trains were being operated as though during hours of night.

The weather bureau officials said the darkness was caused by a falling temperature which permitted the formation of fog. The fog mingling with smoke from mills and factories, was held over the city, there being no wind.

CONSIDERED TONIGHT

Fire and Police Commissioners Will Take Up Desire of Fire Chief to Quit Job.

Members of the Janesville fire and police commissions will meet at Mayor James A. Father's office at the city hall building at 7:30 this evening.

The most important business to come to the attention of the commissions is the resignation of Henry C. Klein, chief of the fire department and a fireman for more than twenty years as a fireman and for more than six years as a fire chief. Klein has served the city electrician. Mr. Klein has served the city electrician. Mr. Klein has served the city electrician.

JUNIOR CLASS CELEBRATES
FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

More than eighty students and members of the faculty of the Janesville high school were present at the banquet and entertainment given in the school gym last Saturday evening by the junior class as a celebration of the winning of the class championship in football. The president of the class, Joe Johnson, and his committee arranged a most entertaining program which was given by various members of the class after the dinner. It consisted largely of humorous sketches and impersonations, and met with the unanimous approval of all present.

The student guests were members of the victorious junior class, which was the only class to win a state championship in the history of the school. The football team, which was led by the captain, won the championship by defeating the team from the University of Wisconsin.

GENERAL SCOTT TELLS SENATE COMMITTEE WHAT NATION NEEDS FOR ADEQUATE DEFENSE.

FISHER OPPOSES PLAN

Hearing on Chamberlain Military Compulsion Bill Featured by Opposition of Former Secretary of Interior.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Washington, Dec. 18.—Hearings on the Chamberlain compulsory military training bill were begun today by a sub-committee of the senate military committee. Walter L. Fisher of Chicago, former secretary of the interior, who stood first on the committee list of witnesses, was opposed to the measure on the ground that the system would impose an unnecessary burden, and would not furnish civic training. He recommended instead that the army be organized to give greater individual benefit to soldiers.

Major General Scott, chief of staff of the army, detailed to the committee why the general staff considered the volunteer system wholly broken down, and urged that it be discarded for a universal system of liability to training and service.

Need Army of 1,500,000.

General Scott, disclosing much of the army war college material which he regarded as confidential, shows that the present general staff now believes that instead of 400,000 available men which it considered sufficient as a start to defend the country against a sudden attack, the army should have 1,500,000 fully trained men at the beginning of a war, with a like number ready to follow in ninety days. The change is made on the development of the British army, the organization of great Canadian forces, and British alliance with Japan.

With such a force available, the army general staff General Scott said, considered the United States practically immune from such an attack as military strategists believe might be expected from an ambitious set of powers in the European war.

Mr. Fisher declared himself in favor of adequate preparedness.

"I believe," he said, "there is no higher duty than to provide for the adequate military preparedness. But there is a radical difference between a military policy for defense and aggressive policy. If we are going to defend the Monroe doctrine, we are embarking on a military policy."

Fisher's Defense Plan.

To provide a first line of defense, Mr. Fisher suggested that the pay of the army be doubled, that physical training which would fit the men for civil life be made compulsory and that as rapidly as they could be trained, be discharged into a citizen reserve, liable for duty in case of emergency.

His plan proposed here is to adopt universal training for the sake of its civic by-products, for it is argued that universal training will give greater efficiency in the military and in the civilian life. If you adopt civic discipline for the sake of its military by-product, you'll carry the country and you can't carry it otherwise."

COMMISSION URGES
SWEEPING CHANGES
IN STATE TAX LAWS

Repeal of Personal Property Tax and Revision of Income Tax Rates Recommended in Report.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Dec. 18.—Sweeping changes in the tax laws of the state are proposed in the report of the commission on the present law of taxation, which has just been sent to the printer to be ready for distribution when the legislature convenes on January 10th. The changes are recommended by the entire membership of the tax commission, chairman, Madison, Thomas E. Lyons, Superior, Carroll Atwood, Milwaukee.

The chapter of the tax commission's report details the legislative history of the state and the accomplishments under these statutes. It tells of the experience in Wisconsin under the present personal property tax law. The report says that a revenue derived from the assessment of personal property taxable in 1915 computed at the average rate was $7,514,000.

Repeal Personal Property Tax.

"As the aggregate income tax for the same year was $5,355,095, it is suggested that a repeal of the personal property tax law would result in a loss of over two million dollars revenue unless compensated in some other way," says the report. "It is believed that such compensation could be made by the repeal of the present law of taxation and certain minor changes in the income tax law."

One of the first changes suggested is that all local public utilities such as street car lines and power companies should be transferred to the real estate class for taxation. A second suggestion is that banks might be taxed on their deposits. The report says that the commission points out that the laws for the taxation of national banks and state banks are not clear and that it may be necessary to consider the present method of assessing bank stock, but have this work done by the state tax commission. A third change is suggested in that automobiles and other motor vehicles might be changed from the personal property class and taxed on a license basis according to weight or horsepower.

Discuss Income Tax.

The report then points out the superiority of income tax for merchants and manufacturers. The report says that it is quite possible that the income tax would not yield a return equal to that received from merchants and manufacturers stock at the present time, but this situation would be changed by a change in the distribution of the income tax so as to give the state and county a larger percentage in the income tax.

It is recommended that there be no exemption as to income from sources not otherwise taxed.

"In many large and smaller cities there is a considerable number of retired farmers, business and professional men whose property aside from their residences consist wholly or in part of securities," says the commission in speaking of income derived from stocks, bonds and securities. "At the current rate of interest the net income from $20,000 of securities ranges from $1,000 to $1,200, and this amount is completely wiped out by the exemptions allowed to husbands and wives. Under the present law the head of a normal family of five may have $20,000 of securities without being subject to any tax. When it is considered that owners of other property are receiving the same amount of income are obliged to pay approximately 20

WEALTHY EUROPEAN BANKER IS DENIED ADMISSION TO U. S. BY IMMIGRATION AUTHORITIES.

REASON IS WITHHELD

Officials Decline to Give Out Information in Regard to Case.—Baron Carried Half Million in Cash.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] New York, Dec. 18.—Baron Robert Emanuel Oppenheim was ordered deported from the United States after a hearing before the board of inquiry of the bureau of immigration here today. He appealed to the department of labor at Washington.

Withhold Reason.

With the removal of Baron Robert Emanuel Oppenheim from the Ellis Island today, the mystery surrounding the detention of the reputed French and English financier by the immigration authorities was enhanced by their continued refusal to give any reason for their act.

The Ellis Island officials said the order to hold Oppenheim, who arrived on the steamship Nordam from London, came from the bureau of immigration, of Washington, to which all inquiries were referred. Word came from Washington that the immigration department knew nothing of the detention. Oppenheim said it might be a case of mistaken identity.

Carried $500,000 in cash. A report was current that Oppenheim had arrived here with $500,000 in cash and securities which he had with him. It was stated, when removed to the island.

COMMERCIAL SLAVERY
IN GERMANY, CHARGE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Berlin, Dec. 18.—German commercial organizations are making a strenuous protest against the practice of "commercial slavery" which they say is beginning to make itself known.

Most business firms, since the beginning of the war, have voluntarily paid a "war tax" to the government. Into the army a portion of some employees' salaries or wages. Some of them particularly in the Rhineland are now making the employees enter into an agreement to work for their firms at least three years after the arrival of peace, on pain of having the voluntary payments to their relatives cease. Their salaries may or may not be raised during that time. They are asked to sign a sort of note, which is in effect a promise to repay the aggregate of the payments made to relatives, at five per cent, if they leave the employ of the firm within three years.

Chambers of Commerce that have taken the matter up, while agreed that the burden of the war should be borne by the state, are sometimes inordinately severe, are convinced that stringent steps must be taken against the practice of "commercial slavery" as the plan adopted by the Rhineland firms.

42 LATIN-AMERICAN SHIPS

TREE DECORATIONS ARE COMMENTED ON

Street Display Attracts State Wide Attention Owing to its Novelty.

Janesville Christmas trees are attracting considerable attention throughout the press of the state. The novelty of the idea has received much favorable comment and many cities are reported considering similar displays at the next holiday season. The Beloit Daily News, in commenting on the idea, says: "Janesville streets are decorated with Christmas trees. Spaced about ten feet apart, these green trees of this season are braced up along the curb all through the main section of the Bower City. The view up the long vista of the coniferous decorations is said to be most beautiful. The spirit of the Christmas season pervades all of the shopping section and a far larger number of people are doing their Christmas shopping early as a result. A number of Beloit's business men who have seen this novel outdoor trimming have commented very favorably on the idea and will be much in favor of doing the same here next year. The cost would be trifling as each store could buy its own trees and the general effect would be excellent.

It has been suggested that all store owners in front of whose places the little trees are placed decorate them, as many have already done. It would add to the Christmas effect and be most tasty. Several trees have been lighted by a tiny electric light as well as the tinsel and colored papers, making them most attractive. It has also been suggested that the trees be placed to the sidewalks to prevent their blowing over when an unusually strong wind blows, as has been the case several times recently.

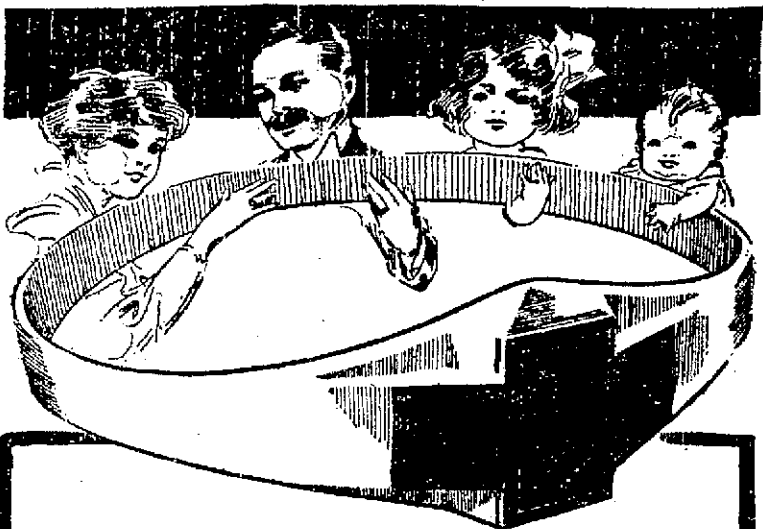

Whether it is the trees that have instilled the Christmas spirit or the idea of shop early become so fixed in the mind of the public, or both, the merchants are reporting an unusually early Christmas sale. The number of out of town buyers is exceptionally large, many coming from Beloit and adjacent cities to purchase from the Janesville stores, which are unusually well supplied to meet all demands.

FOREIGN TRADE.

The upsurge in prices on the New York stock exchange at the more recent time that Germany had suggested peace negotiations illustrates how the American market and American prosperity are so closely wrapped up in the great struggle across the water that a line of demarcation would be almost impossible to discover. When the war ends the question of foreign trade will be the absorbing topic. An eastern exchange, in looking into the situation, says:

"Washington advises lead to the hope that a law will be enacted authorizing or permitting combinations for export business. It is doubtful if existing laws really forbid such combinations. But no matter what congress may have intended, or what the laws do cover, the fact remains that manufacturers and business men throughout the country draw no distinction between interstate and international trade so far as the prohibition of the anti-trust laws are concerned."

"That our business men, with few exceptions, cannot meet organized foreign competitors, single-handed, is the conclusion of the federal trade commission after an extensive study of this same subject. It found that every business man knows that cartels and syndicates are formed in Europe expressly for foreign business. These combinations," said the commission, "can afford long and costly campaigns to gain foreign markets, and they can grant favorable terms to purchasers."

"In another part of its report the commission said that this country's organization for export trade must be strengthened if its manufacturers and producers are to compete on foreign markets on equal terms with the commerce of the world, and it recommended enactment of a law that would expressly permit just such organizations. Congress created this body for the express purpose of carrying out its anti-trust legislation; it should now heed what it says in relation to the workings of these laws."

"Whether right or wrong, this country is committed to the policy of competition in business. Laws have been enacted on every hand to enforce it. But the citizen who goes into another country with his business encounters different legal conditions. Cartels and combinations are not only permitted, but encouraged, and laws that are intended to give every man an equal opportunity in his hands when he goes into other countries and compel him to fight single-handed against organized forces. This is not equal opportunity. It simply means business murder."

"Probably there are, as the commission remarked, other factors of even greater importance in export business. But these others are not likely to go into foreign fields too far in advance of the actual business. For instance transportation and credit facilities at the disposal of an exporter, and he will not avail of them to great extent if thereby he becomes vulnerable to a criminal law. It seems, therefore, that the enactment of a de-emphasizing and permissive law on this subject should be one of the first steps to anticipate the end of the war."

BANK RESERVES AND POLITICS.

"It is said commonly on the federal reserve board that its first important action should be political. The business and banking distrust of the administration and its federal reserve board has been based upon the fear of political influence," says the Wall Street Journal.

"There had been hopes that Mr. Wilson, re-elected, would be a constructive president and feel no longer the necessity for appointments and policies with a view to party politics or personal successes. But Mr. Wilson has one great bee buzzing in his bonnet that is bigger than the 'presidential bee.' His ambition is to crown his life with a successful movement for a world peace. To that end the federal reserve board must now become a political board internationally."

"Those who have undercurrents of Washington information know full well that the recent action of the federal reserve board was not an action to protect American banking reserves; and that it was a movement allied with the German peace propaganda in this country."

"The Ford peace movement brought only ridicule. A second peace movement allied with Washington was nipped in the bud by strong protests from Great Britain."

"The third and latest attempt to bring about peace was connected with the German propaganda in Wall street against supplies and credit for the allies and was supported by the federal reserve board at Washington."

"Gallant little Japan steps forward, with the wealth it has made from war supplies, and offers the allies $50,000,000."

"It would seem as if the United States was not endangering its financial position in granting to the defenders of democracy and western civilization a business credit of a fraction of the profits it is making on exports at high prices."

"But what is democracy at home or abroad compared with personal ambition to make a world peace in grandeur surpassing all previous records from Washington?"

A MOMENT WITH THE MUSE

Northern Spies. An apple is a pretty thing and if we eat one every day, no colds or grippe or anything will bother us at all they say; upon an apple daily munch and chew it to the very core, it makes a dainty little lunch and keeps the doctor from the door. But apples are of every kind, of every color, sort and size and never the writer so fine a sort as Northern Spies.

Full off upon a weary day when much goes wrong and naught goes right, I think within my very core, I'll eat a Northern Spy tonight. I think me how when eve is here my wife will meet me then and cry, 'You're looking rather worn, my dear, I'm sure you need a Northern Spy.' And often when I feel a shock and think that I am getting sick, I do not hurry for the doc, a Northern Spy will do the trick. He knows delight whoever chews upon its rare and juicy meat and when I daily with the Muse I like a Northern Spy to eat. 'This thus I love to use my jaws, 'tis thus my teeth I love to try and now I guess I'll have to pause and fletcherize a Northern Spy.

But my Dear, if you knew how I just hate to think of my fortieth birthday, said Mrs. Nellie Henne to the younger Miss Matt, who then asked, 'Just like that?' And why should you, like that? What happened then?

THAT'S DIFFERENT.

Dr. Bigdome had told his breathless audience that a drop of water on the point of a needle contains 8,999,465.04 microbes, 5,446,570 bacilli and 9,676,888 germs; that a Humpagen ray of light travels eighty billion miles a second and that the sporiferous shad contains 50,563 bones, and now he was ready to impart the real climax of his revelations. Slipping the olive he had been sucking into his best pocket, he said, "And now, ladies and gentlemen, I want to tell you something about the famous seven seas. If, ladies and gentlemen, water was to be pumped from the crevices of the world at the stupendous rate of 500,000.03 gallons a second, it would take twelve million years to empty them!"

A gasp of astonishment rose towards the ceiling, and Dr. Bigdome paused to drink in the effect. It was then that a pale worried looking man rose from his place in the back of the room.

"May I ask a question?" he quavered. "Certainly, certainly, I must I—I—I am overwhelmed," smiled the eminent lecturer.

"Well, where would they pump the water to?" asked the pale one. "By clearing a stupendous pit, Dr. Bigdome avoided answering.

Niches in Honduras. Honduras is a rich country and its resources remain in almost a virgin condition. It possesses a climate that varies with its topography, the temperature on the coasts being hot, in the lowlands of the interior it is warm, and in the mountains it is temperate and in some places cold. Its mountains abound in minerals, and its tablelands and valleys are especially adapted for raising cattle and for agriculture.

PARKER SAFETY SELF-FILLING FOUNTAIN PEN

I fill myself in two seconds at any inkwell. No matter in what position I am carried the ink can't get out, because I have a "sure lock" safety cap. No humps or bumps on my barrel to make writing awkward—no openings into the side to invite accidental spills.

I solve the vexing problem of "what to give" and the name "Parker Lucky Curve" on my barrel shows that you've been thoughtful of quality in your selection.

FULTON BOYS HEAR TALKS BY UNIVERSITY SPEAKERS

Y. M. C. A. boys and their friends in the town of Fulton were afforded an opportunity of the past week end of knowing a number of university students who have been brought down under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. to talk to the boys and take part in a week end of boys' activities. The delegation team arrived in the town Friday evening and were tendered a banquet by the boys. On Saturday afternoon they participated in a basketball game with the Fulton boys and later gave a demonstration of stock judging. Yesterday afternoon they spoke to the boys, telling not only of the life at the university, but also of the advantages and ideals, but also of the ideals of a clean, Christian life, and what it means to a man to have led a life of this sort.

REVEREND M'KINNEY URGES REALIZATION OF OPPORTUNITIES

Episcopal Rector Urges People to Realize the Value of Things Before It Is Too Late.

Declaring that too seldom do we take advantage of our opportunities when they are before us, the Reverend John McKinney of Christ Episcopal church yesterday pointed out more fully the parable of the Wise and the Foolish Virgins. In this the Foolish Virgins failed to take advantage of the opportunity presented to them, failed to prepare for the contingency that might arise and were consequently excluded when that contingency did arise. This was Reverend McKinney's message to the congregation, and so have the door closed on us.

"We don't value things until they have been taken away from us," he said, "we do not appreciate the great value of our lives and our opportunities until after they have been removed from this earthly scene of activity. We chafe under their restrictions; and only when we are grown do we realize their value; we see it all when it is too late, when the door is closed.

"On God, turn back the world and give me yesterday," how many of us would be glad to go back and have another opportunity of living our lives over again, of having a chance to appreciate and take advantage of the opportunities placed in our paths, and which we need to realize.

"In almost every walk of life contingencies arise which must be provided for, yet how many of us fail in this regard? We are not prepared for them with all our compulsory school laws, truant officers and special schools, all provided merely because children cannot be trusted to take advantage of the opportunities of education. The donors that an education will open, even their children shirk their school work; their interests are elsewhere. These are the foolish men and are the ones upon whom the door will be closed later when they realize they have had too little training.

"So it often is with men of vast wealth who do not realize the inestimable value of their wealth in ministering to the poor and needy, but rather do they squander much of it on useless and vicious amusements. Many of us realize that there is something more to the world than mere dollars and cents; that service for others is the greatest part of life.

"And so with friends—too often we realize only after a friend is gone, the value of a friendship. We take him too much as a matter of course and refuse to believe that his spirit is any great aid to us. But take that away and then we know how much that friend meant to us. We fail too often to take full advantage of the aid of a friend, too often we take for granted the sufficient intimacy with a friend to permit of a free exchange of advice; everyone should have an advisor in the form of some discreet friend.

"The opportunity of the spiritual world, the opportunity of worship seems to come to many but once a week. How we abuse these privileges offered by the church, how many of us make use of the church except on Sundays; how many of us give religion a place in our lives except on Sundays. But suppose a bereaved soul, a soul in punishment for religious neglect, as a reminder of the value of the spiritual life, to open our minds to greater things, to ourselves, and the realization of the great things that God has given us.

"Don't let the door close; realize your opportunities before they have slipped into the past. Once closed, the door cannot be opened. But rather let us open our door to Him, and give Him a fit place to dwell with us. Make ourselves worthy of Him, and the door will be open to us. Let us get the small things first and then the great things will come easy. Let us promote a common interest, but let us create the right interests in each of us by living truly Christian lives."

OBITUARY.

Andrew W. Reddy.
At the funeral of Andrew W. Reddy, who died Friday afternoon at his home, held this morning from St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock, the following men served as speakers: A. J. Blair, A. P. Watson, C. J. Murphy, George Davey and Thomas Riley. Father Mahoney conducted the services. The interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Charles North passed away late Saturday night at his home on the Afton road. Mr. North was born in this state in 1854, and has lived in this vicinity for many years. Up until about two years ago, when he moved to the farm on the Afton road, he was a resident of Delavan.

Mr. North had many friends in Rock county who will be deeply grieved to learn of his death. He was a man of sterling character, kindly disposition and a true friend. He is survived by his wife and one son.

The funeral will be held from the home at half past ten tomorrow morning. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Raymond T. Pierson, who will conduct the services. Interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

John Neubauer.
The funeral of John Neubauer, who died at his home Friday afternoon, was held this morning at nine o'clock from St. Mary's church. Father George conducted the services. Interment was in Mt. Olivet cemetery. The pallbearers were: William O'Grady, George Grith, Michael Birmah, Edward and Terry Sheridan and Edward Cassidy.

Mrs. E. M. Hardy.
Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hardy of the city of Chicago, received a telegram this morning from E. M. Hardy of Morristown, Tennessee, saying his wife, Mrs. Hardy, passed away. This was a great shock to her many Janesville friends, who remember her as a lovely woman. Mr. and Mrs. Hardy and daughter Estelle left for Morristown about two weeks ago. Mr. Hardy has been about fifteen years. When in this place he ran the "Republican" together with a job printing office.

German Ship Lines Prepare To Resume Service To Hamburg

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Dec. 18.—Action taken by German shipping interests in evident anticipation of peace, was revealed here today when announcement came from the local offices of the two big German trans-Atlantic lines, that instructions had been received to make freight contracts for shipsments from New York to Germany after resumption of our regular service.

MILK PRODUCERS IN AVALON ORGANIZE

Avalon Farmers Form Producers' Association to Get Permanent Market in That Town.

Another milk producers' association which will endeavor to get a permanent market for their product and will give the producers more strength in getting fair propositions from market, has been formed in Rock county in the town of Avalon. Last Saturday afternoon a number of farmers of that vicinity met at the Avalon school and there perfected the organization of the Avalon Milk Producers' association with the following men as officers: President, E. C. Ransom; vice president, Mr. Dockhorn; secretary, Mr. Van Gilder. Three directors were also elected to serve with three others to be elected at the next meeting. They are: R. G. Inman, W. A. Deam and Asil Lane.

Nearly fifty producers were present at the meeting and most of those joined the new association after talks by S. P. Reese of Clinton and J. M. C. A. The affair is scheduled to start at half past seven. In addition to a delicious buffet supper that will be served, a boys' band will play a number of interesting and amusing stunts for the program. The event will be in the nature of a Christmas party.

"Y" Christmas Tree.
Boys' Secretary C. W. Feagin of the Y. M. C. A. has arranged for a Christmas tree at the association on next Thursday evening at half past seven, at which all junior members of the association are expected to be present to join in the festivities. An interesting Christmas program has been planned and a large "feed" will be served the boys.

Winter Mike.
A number of "Y" boys took part in the post of the winter hikes which Mr. Feagin has planned for this season on last Saturday. With Mr. Feagin as leader the boys hiked up the river and enjoyed a real camp lunch around a fire built in the snow. In the afternoon the party tried their skill on skis. Mr. Feagin plans to conduct similar hikes every Friday afternoon throughout the winter.

GERMANS WIN BACK CAMBRETTE FARM IN FIGHTING AT VERDUN

Paris Admits Temporary Success of Teutons in Counter Attack.—Bulgaria Celebrate Rumanian Defeat.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Dec. 18.—French forces have taken a total of 11,387 German prisoners from the Verden since December 15, according to the French war office today. A violent German counter attack on the Meuse has resulted in German forces securing a foothold at the Cambrette farm.

Thanks Bulgarian Soldiers.
Berlin, Dec. 18.—In special order, the commander in chief of the Bulgarian army exclaims which now seems probable, and through which Bulgaria now is given satisfaction for her suffering of three years ago, have caused this victory to occasion unusual rejoicing. Everywhere in our country diving services were held and demonstrations of joy by popular occurred in the streets in celebration of our triumph in this notable victory.

The Rumanians made an attack in Volhynia, in the region northwest of Lutsk yesterday in an effort to retake the position in the hands of the Germans. The war office announces that the attacks were without success.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT PHILOMATHIAN CLUB

Popular and Old-Fashioned Songs Are Discussed and Sung at Club Session on Saturday.

A musical program was enjoyed by the members of the Philomathian club at their meeting on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Munn. The response to roll call was by naming the title of old songs. A thoroughly interesting paper was given by Mrs. H. D. Murdock on the "Popular Song Writers." She spoke of Emmet, Bishop and Joe Howard, and said that Edw. McDowell was probably the best song writer of America.

In the older favorites, she mentioned the war songs of Geo. Root, "Home Sweet Home," by Paine; "The Old Oaken Bucket," and "Last Rose of Summer." She also gave a tribute to the stirring old hymns like "Rock of Ages" and "Onward Christian Soldiers," as being of untold value to Christianity.

An illustrated reverie, "What Grandfather Saw," was given by Mrs. Kerch. Mrs. Murdock playing the melodies, which were of the old fashioned varieties.

A paper by Mrs. Eddy gave a description of the "National Songs of Various Countries," the "Marseillaise," "The Norwegian National Hymn," Bjornsen, "The King's Song," The King's Song, and "The Star Spangled Banner."

EVANSVILLE COUPLE MARRIED FOR FIFTY-FIVE YEARS

Evansville, Dec. 18.—Fifteen of the immediate friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gillman gathered at the New Gillman home yesterday where a dinner was served in honor of their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The table was decorated with white and gold with a centerpiece of large yellow crocuses, a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gillman. A large spray of pink carnations, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Scott, and a beautiful flowering plant, presented by the Columbia chapter of Western Star, decorated the buffet.

Of the fifty-five years of their married life, Mr. and Mrs. Gillman have lived in Evansville forty-seven years. Since coming here Mr. Gillman has become prominent among the business men of the city, and today a number of the clothing firm known as Gillman & Sons. Mr. Gillman is likewise prominent in civic matters, and at present is chief of the fire department. He was born near Beloit and has always lived in Rock county. Mrs. Gillman, formerly Miss Sara Fellows, was born in the east.

Those present at the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gillman, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Prantz of Beloit, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Scottfield, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gillman, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gillman and daughter Bernadine, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Turner and daughter Joyce Maxine, Mrs. George Fellows, Mrs. George Lee, Mrs. Henry Fellows.

Woman Arrested.—Dean Swift and Edgerton Authorities Arrest Woman Charged With Shoplifting In Many Drug Stores.

Edgerton, Dec. 18.—Dean Swift and George Dallman were called to Stoughton Saturday as witnesses. About a month ago a well dressed middle aged lady appeared at the Swift drug store in this city, and on the pretense of waiting for a lady to call for her from the country, spent a portion of the morning at the store. When Mr. Swift went to dinner the lady was still in the store, and in some manner tore her skirt on one of the tables. She asked permission to arrange her clothing. Shortly afterward she disappeared, going to the store of the Dallman drug company, where she was closing a bill in the door as she was closing the door. Here she also asked permission to retire to the back room, near the prescription case, to arrange her clothing again. The next day she came back to the Swift store, and compared notes, and came to the conclusion that the lady was a thief. Upon checking up it was found that a bottle containing about $8 worth of morphine was missing from the Dallman drug company's store, and that the lady was missing from the Swift store, as Mr. Swift had taken the precaution of locking his morphine in the safe. The surrounding towns were immediately notified of the lookout for this lady. About a week previous to her appearance here the lady had been successful at Stoughton, where she had stolen a bottle of morphine. The local druggists sent word to that city that they were able to determine where their morphine bottles had been stolen. About a month ago she appeared at Milton Junction, using the same methods, but as the druggist had been warned and kept a close watch of the lady she was not successful. However, he did not notify the authorities and allowed the lady to depart. Saturday she again appeared at Stoughton, and the local doctor, claiming she wanted the morphine for a lady in the country who was suffering with cancer of the stomach.

NEWS NOTES—MOVIELAND

67 DAISY DEAN

Announcement is made that Francis Billington has signed a contract to appear in a series of dramatic productions in support of and opposite William Russell. "Miss Billington is an undoubted acquisition," says President Hutchinson of the American company. "She is a thorough capable actress of the type so tremendously valuable in picture work. She is a splendid athlete all round, a swimmer, a crack shot, an experienced chauffeur and a horsewoman whom there is probably no better in the country."

Miss Billington is a native of Dallas, Texas. When she was ten years old her parents moved to Louisiana and it is only six years ago that the family took up a residence in Los Angeles. She has a reputation for great beauty. She has dark brown hair, large grey eyes fringed with long dark shading lashes, a perfect olive complexion and an extraordinary command of facial expression. Tall, lithe and agile, with a perfect figure and poise, she is well adapted to the portrayal of emotional romantic roles.

LINDER AND PINK PAJAMAS. Max Linder, imported from France to out-Chaplin Chaplin, is a regular comedian. He wears pink pajamas and the said pink pajamas are to play an important, if not spectacular, part in his first comedy, which is now under way in a Chicago studio. The comedy is to deal with Linder's ocean trip to America, an incident of which was a boat crash at sea, which gave the comedian an opportunity to test the efficacy of a pair of pajamas in quieting turmoil of board.

AS TO THE STATUS OF ETHEL. Ethel Barrymore, hereditary legatee of probably the most brilliant stage ancestry in this country, makes the announcement that she has abandoned the spoken drama for all time. Apparently this is a well and authenticated announcement, but the remains that the star is under contract with Charles Frohman. It also is known that she has not yet openly repudiated some tentative engagements to appear later in the season of the stage drama.

Mary Pickford has just received another valuable acquisition to her library, namely, "Edison, His Life Francis Billington. and inventions," in two volumes, presented to her by the great inventor and containing his personal autograph.

Crane Wilbur, Olive Stokes and Thomas Ricketts, a rare combination of star, leading woman, and director, have started work on a big feature, written by Crane Wilbur, to be released soon.

The William Fox commissioner of publicity announces with great enthusiasm that the movie players of that company include Alice May, June Caprice and August Burke. How engaging Miss September Morn?

HELPS MAKE RUSS BAZAAR A SUCCESS

Miss Florence Fair as she appears at the Russian bazaar.

Miss Florence Fair has been pronounced the prettiest girl at the Russian bazaar in New York city, which she is helping to make a big success. The president of the bazaar is Mrs. Charles H. Boynton. Mrs. Bakmeff, wife of the Russian ambassador and honorary president of the bazaar, represented the Russian government at the opening ceremonies.

Too Much for Her. A little girl who was enrolled in the extension department of the Y. W. C. A. was asked by one of the secretaries of the association why she no longer attended the technical grammar class. "Well," replied the girl, "I always thought a conjunction was a place where trains stopped. When I learned it was a word that connected other words the class was too much for me."

NEW MYERS THEATRE.

An attraction that inspires its audience with new thoughts that broadens our knowledge of the world in general and stimulates discussion is well worth of liberal praise. Such an attraction is Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival which comes to the New Myers theatre on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 25 and 26. While Mr. Howe can always be relied upon to thoroughly amuse, at the same time his exhibition imparts much information which could not be derived from any other source.

The program to be presented on the coming engagement will take "Howe travelers" on a steamer ride through the fjords of Norway, with a side trip to Hammerfest, the most northern town of Europe. The series also reveals the famous Midnight Sun, native Laplanders in camp, reindeer drawing odd-looking sleds, and a most remarkable spectacle showing several thousand reindeer in a herd swimming

Where Will Old Age Find You?

Untrained, you can never exceed a fixed earning capacity. It depends absolutely upon your manual ability. Not many years will pass until this ability will be on the ebb. Your earning capacity will decrease. And at a time when trained men are at their zenith you will find a "jobless" world string you in the face.

THE TRAINED AND THE UNTRAINED

Look at the street sweeper at the crossing. A man though little past fifty—gray, old and bent—struggling for a mere pittance with a fear gnawing at his heart that the little may be lost. Look at the business man passing in his limousine. The difference—one recognized the value of TRAINING while he was young.

YOU SHOULD BE PREPARED

You should see to it today that age will find you prepared. Train for business now and the opportunities that will be open to you will be maturing in their fullness at a time when, if untrained, the chill hand of age will be grasping for your "job."

 "Add—is Joe more reasonable?"
 "He will be. He knows that I—that I shall not marry him."
 "Poor chap! He'll buck up, of course. But it's a little hard just now.
 When do you leave?"
 "Just after breakfast."
 "I am going very early. Perhaps—"
 He hesitated. Then, hurriedly:
 "I got a little present for you—nothing much, but your mother was quite willing. In fact, we bought it together."
 He went back into his room, and returned with a small box. She opened it with excited fingers. Ticking away on its satin bed was a small gold watch.

"You'll need it, you see," he explained anxiously.
 "A watch," said Sidney, eyes on it.
 "A dear little watch, to pin on and not put in a pocket. Why, you're the best person!"
 "I was afraid you might think it presumptuous," he said. "I haven't any right, of course. And then, your mother said you wouldn't be offended."
 "Don't apologize for making me so happy," she cried. "It's wonderful, really. And the little hand is for justice! How many queer things you know!"
 After that she must pin it on, and slip it to stand before his mirror and inspect the result. It gave Le Moyne a queer thrill to see her there in the room, among his books and his pipes.

 It made him a little sick, too, in view of tomorrow and the thousand-odd tomorrows when she would not be there.
 "I've kept you up shamefully," she said at last, "and you got up so early.
 I shall write you a note from the hospital, delivering a little lecture on extravagance—because how can I now, with this joy shining on me? And about how to keep Katie in order about your socks, and all sorts of things. And—now, good night."
 She had moved to the door, and he followed her, stopping a little to pass under the low chandelier.
 "Good night," said Sidney.
 "Good-by—and God bless you."
 She went out, and he closed the door softly behind her.

CHAPTER VIII.

Sidney never forgot her early impressions of the hospital, although they were chaotic enough at first.
 There were uniformed young women coming and going, efficient, cool-eyed, low of voice. There were long visitas of shining doors and lines of beds.
 There were brisk internes with duck clothes and brass buttons, who eyed her with friendly, patronizing glances.
 There were bandages and dressings, and great white screens, behind which were played little or big dramas, births or deaths, as the case might be.
 And over all brooded the mysterious authority of the superintendent of the training school, dubbed the Head, for short.

"Twelve hours a day, from seven to seven, with the off-duty intermission, Sidney labored at tasks which revolted her soul. She swept and dusted the wards, cleaned closets, folded sheets and towels, rolled bandages—did everything but nurse the sick, which was what she had come to do.
 At night she did not go home. She sat on the edge of her narrow, white bed and soaked her aching feet in hot water and witch-hazel, and practiced making pulses on her own slender wrist, with K's little watch.

Out of all the long, hot days, two periods stood out clearly, to be waited for and cherished. One was when, early in the afternoon, with the ward in spotless order, the shades drawn against the August sun, the tables covered with their red covers and the only sound the drone of the bandagemachine as Sidney steadily turned it.
 Doctor Max passed the door on his way to the surgical ward beyond, and gave her a cheery greeting. At these times, Sidney's heart beat almost in

THERE ARE STILL A FEW NEW PLACES TO HIDE CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

THESE ARE THE PLACES TO HIDE CHRISTMAS GIFTS UNTIL THE BIG DAY ARRIVES.

time with the ticking of the little watch.
 The other hour was at twilight,
 when, work over for the day, the night nurse, with her rubber-soled shoes and tired eyes and fangling keys, having reported and received the night orders, the nurses gathered in their small parlor for prayers. It was months before Sidney got over the exaltation of that twilight hour, and never did it cease to bring her healing and peace. In a way, it crystallized for her what the day's work meant: charity and its sister, service, the promise of rest and peace. Into the little parlor fled the nurses, and knelt, folding their tired hands.

"The Lord is my shepherd," read the Head out of her worn Bible; "I shall not want."
 And the nurses: "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters."
 And so on through the psalm to the assurance at the end, "And I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Now and then there was a death behind one of the white screens. It caused little change in the routine of the ward. A nurse stayed behind the screen, and her work was done by the others. When everything was over, the time was recorded exactly on the record, and the body was taken away.
 At first it seemed to Sidney that she could not stand this nearness to death.
 She thought the nurses hard because they took it quietly. Then she found that it was only stoicism, resignation, that they had learned. These things must be, and the work must go on.
 Their philosophy made them no less tender. Some such patient detachment must be that of the angels who keep the Great Record.

On her first Sunday half-holiday, she was free in the morning, and went to church with her mother, going back to the hospital after the service. So it was two weeks before she saw Le Moyne again. Even then, it was only for a short time. Christine and Palmer Howe came in to see her, and to inspect the balcony, now finished.

But Sidney and Le Moyne had a few words together first.
 There was a change in Sidney. Le Moyne was quick to see it. She was a trifle subdued, with a puzzled look in her blue eyes. Her mouth was tender, as always, but he thought it drooped.
 There was a new atmosphere of wisdom about the girl that made his heart ache.

"They were alone in the little parlor with its brown lamp and blue silk slide. K. never smoked in the parlor, but by sheer force of habit he held the pipe in his teeth.
 "And now have things been going?"
 asked Sidney practically.

"Your steward has little to report.
 Aunt Elsie, who left you her love, has had the complete order for the Lorenz trousseau. I thought I'd ask you about the veil. We're rather in a quandary. Do you like this new fashion of draping the veil from behind the collar in the back?"

Sidney had been sitting on the edge of her chair, staring.
 "There," she said—"I knew it! This house is fatal! They're making an old woman of you already." Her tone was tragic.

He sucked calmly at his dead pipe.
 "Katie has a new prescription—receipe—for bread. It has more bread and fewer airholes. One cake of yeast—" Sidney sprang to her feet.
 "It's perfectly terrible!" she cried.
 "Because you rent a room in this house is no reason why you should give up your personality and your—your intelligence. Mother says you water the flowers every morning, and look up the house before you go to bed. I—I never meant you to adopt the family!"

K. removed his pipe and gazed earnestly into the bowl.
 "Bill Taft has had kittens under the porch," he said. "And the groceryman has been sending short weight. We've bought scales now, and weigh everything."
 "You are evading the question."
 "Dear child, I am doing these things because I like to do them. For—some time I've been floating, and now I've got a home."
 Sidney gazed helplessly at his imperturbable face. He seemed older than she had recalled him: the hair over his ears was almost white. And yet he was just thirty. That was Palmer Howe's age, and Sidney seemed more erect than he had in the first days of his occupancy of the second floor front.

illusions, of course, but perhaps you've gained ideals. That's a step."
 "Life," observed Sidney, with the wisdom of two weeks out in the world,
 "life is a terrible thing, K. We think we've got it, and—it's got us."
 "Undoubtedly."
 "When I think of how simple I used to think it all was! One grew up and got married, and—and perhaps had children. And when one got very old, one died. Lately I've been seeing that life really consists of exceptions—children who don't grow up, and grown-ups who die before they are old.
 And—this took an effort, but she looked at him squarely—"and people who have children, but are not married. It all rather hurts."
 "All knowledge that is worth while hurts in the getting."

Sidney got up and wandered around the room, touching its little familiar objects with tender hands. K. watched her. There was this curious element with her it took on the guise of friendship and deceived even himself. It was only in lonely hours that it took on truth, became a hopeless yearning for the touch of her hand or a glance from her clear eyes.

 "There is something else," she said absently. "I cannot talk it over with mother. There is a girl in the ward—"
 "A patient?"
 "Yes. She is quite pretty. She has had typhoid, but she is a little better.
 She's—not a good person."
 "I see."
 "At first I couldn't bear to go near her. I shivered when I had to straighten her bed. I—m being very frank, but I've got to talk this out with someone. I worried a lot about it, because, although at first I hated her, now I don't. I rather like her."
 She looked at K. defiantly, but there was no disapproval in his eyes.

"Vase."

THAT JAR OF MUSTEROLE ON THE BATH-ROOM SHELF

Has Relieved Pain for Every One in the Family

When little Susie had the croup; when Johnny got his feet wet and caught cold; when father sprained his knee; when granny's rheumatism bothered her—That Jar of Musterole was right there to give relief and comfort.
 Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It will not blister like a mustard plaster.
 Quick relief for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds on the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).
 Try Musterole for croupy children.

WOULD DISCUSS BEEF AT MEETINGS IN 14 COUNTIES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
 Madison, Dec. 18.—Meetings, which may add to the state's meat supply and at the same time develop a most profitable side line to general farming in Wisconsin, will be started when the first baby beef institute convenes at New Richmond, St. Croix county, on January 3.
 Growing directly out of the new interest in the raising of early maturing beef, which culminated in the Wisconsin boys' baby beef show at Madison in November, the idea has taken root, and in response to local demands, special baby beef institutes will be held at twenty points in different counties this season.

 The project will be carried on cooperatively by the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association, the department of farmers' institutes, and the state associations representing the following breeds of beef cattle: Aberdeen Angus, Hereford, Red Polled and Shorthorn. The program committee announces that Walter L. Houser, of Mondovi, a well-known live stock breeder with much baby beef experience, will conduct the institutes, assisted in each case by local stockmen.
 Here are the places at which it is highly probable that these better beef institutes will be held—the first of their kind ever attempted in Wisconsin, usually considered for its dairy reputation rather than its interest in meat production:

 January 3, New Richmond, St. Croix county; January 5, Ellsworth, Pierce county; January 6, Alma, Buffalo county; January 11, Bangor, La Crosse county; January 16, La Farge, Vernon county; January 18, Viola or Yuba
 City, Richland county; January 23,
 Lodi, Columbia county; January 25,
 North Freedom, Sauk county; January
 30, Dodgeville, Iowa county; February
 2, Mineral Point, Iowa county; February 13, Lancaster, Grant county; February 15, Bloomington, Grant county; February 20, Livingston, Grant county; February 22, Darlington, La Fayette county; February 27, La Grange,

Walworth county; March 1, Lake Geneva, Walworth county; March 4, Evansville, Rock county; March 5, Avalon, Rock county; March 13, Cambria, Columbia county; March 15, Fox Lake, Dodge county.

POLISHED PLAYING SHOWN BY BADGERS IN 50 TO 17 VICTORY

Northwestern of Naperville Buried With Acute Basket Throwing and General Team Play.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 18.—Presenting a whirlwind offense and a defense that could not solve the University of Wisconsin basketball five won their third preliminary contest of the year Saturday evening by the score of 50 to 17. The Badgers were in the lead at all times and handling the ball like veterans. Very few fumbles occurred to mar the play. The team play and basket shooting of Wisconsin was far better than that shown at any time previous. In the games against Beloit and Ripon the Badgers fumbled considerably and failed to handle the ball, but their work Saturday proved that they are fast overcoming their faults.

Wisconsin started the game with a rush, but Northwestern scored first on a free throw. The Badgers retaliated soon, however, and ran their total up to ten before Northwestern made their first field goal. The play in the first half was more even than the score would indicate. Wisconsin carried the ball up to the basket well but missed many close shots, resulting in keeping the score down. Northwestern, on the other hand, shot their total of 12 for the initial period, while Wisconsin amassed a total of 26.

McIntosh was the attack of the Badgers in the second half by scoring six field goals. The passing of Lewis and Olson during this time was very effective. Northwestern's defense did not seem to be any attempt to stop their onslaught. At one time the Badger team gathered around Northwestern's basket and passed the ball among themselves and gave the opponents a chance to break up the plays, but they could not solve the short pass game.

Carlson playing standing guard for the Badgers was a whirlwind in the following of the ball. He threw the ball into the net six times on dashes up the floor. Olson, his teammate, kept the score column by counting runs from the field.

Northwestern played an unusually clean game, only one foul being called during the game. Northwestern, on the other hand, was guilty of nine fouls. Northwestern could only count three times on the free throws, thus keeping their total down.

Wisconsin has two more preliminary contests before the opening of the season on January 6. On Wednesday they will meet Lawrence College at Madison, Milwaukee to play the annual Milwaukee Normal.

The lineup and summary: Northwestern—1. Carlson, 2. Lewis, 3. Hemming, 4. Olson, 5. Stenger, 6. McIntosh, 7. Carlson, 8. Lewis, 9. Hemming, 10. Olson, 11. Stenger, 12. McIntosh. Substitutions: Northwestern, Kluckholm for Carlson; Dahm for McIntosh. Field Goals—Wisconsin, Hemming missed one; Northwestern, Kastner 3 out of 9 attempts. Referee—Schumacher, Chicago.

BIG TRACK SQUAD OUT AT MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Dec. 18.—More than 50 candidates for the University of Minnesota track team have reported to Coach Leonard Frank, who is putting the men through strenuous practice in preparation for a heavy spring schedule. Coach Frank also is planning four indoor meets this winter in which members of the Gopher squad will compete.

The first real test for the Minnesotans will come at the indoor conference meet at Northwestern university last March. Northrop field will be the scene of two dual meets and an interscholastic track season in May. The Iowa-Minnesota dual meet will be held at Minneapolis May 5, and the Nebraska-Minnesota dual meet will be held here May 12. The annual Northwestern interscholastic meet is scheduled for May 20. The Wisconsin-Minnesota dual meet will be contested at Wisconsin May 10.

INDIANA TOSSERS MEET FOUR CONFERENCE TEAMS

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 18.—Coach Stewart of Indiana university has completed the basketball schedule for the season. Twenty games will be played by the Indiana quintet. The games have been arranged with four Western Conference teams—Indiana, Purdue, Ohio State and Wisconsin. The season closes March 15.

INDIAN PITCHERS NO WORRY TO FOHL

Cleveland, Dec. 18.—Pitcher Les Fohl of the Cleveland Americans believes he has no cause to worry over his 1917 pitching stuff. He figures that Coveleski, Bagby, Boehling and Morton will pitch during the season. Fohl is depending on Fred Clinton, Paul and Ed Klepper to take their regular turns in the box. Five of six recruits also will be given a thorough test to make good.

LITTLE FIVE FIELD MEET AT LINE CITY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Beloit, Wis., Dec. 18.—Beloit college was awarded the annual outdoor track and field meet and the tennis championships of the Little Five conference at the annual meeting of the Illinois club. Both title meets will be held on May 10. Championships for the past year were officially bestowed and work of training schedules for another year progressed to an advanced stage.

When an athlete starts to slip he hits the chutes in rapid fashion. Jack Dalton, with Brooklyn in 1914, was regarded as one of the best hitters in the National League. He finished fourth, batting .319 in 128 games. In 1915 Dalton, like many other big leaguers, jumped to the Federal league for Buffalo. He batted .294. Last season for Buffalo he batted .294. Bill Carrigan and Heinie Wagner of the Boston Red Sox are the real stars of the national pastime. Carrigan is a right-handed pitcher, while Wagner is a left-handed pitcher. Carrigan is a right-handed pitcher, while Wagner is a left-handed pitcher.

Not a single member of the Cleveland Indians is a member of Davids' Players Fraternity. This was announced by the head of the fraternity when he made his annual report. It seems that several years ago, when Fritz ordered the members of his order to strike because of the Kraft case, the Naps, then so-called, refused to comply, not believing that major league players should strike because of a minor league's complaint. "The American league," said one member of the Indians, "always has treated its players fairly, and we never have any reason to complain."

John McGraw says the deal whereby he acquired Buck Herzog he considers the most important of his career. The fact, however, that Johnny had Buck before he was just as good as he is now and let him go detracts in a measure from the glory of the achievement.

CALL GAME IN TIE AFTER TEAMS PLAY 3 EXTRA PERIODS

LAKOTA CARDINALS AND BUSH EYS OF APPLETON IN MOST SENSATIONAL GAME EVER WITNESSED IN CITY.

ATWOOD SAVES GAME

Speedy Janesville Forward Scores Free Throw After Visitors Take Lead on a Local Foul.

When lanky Eddie Atwood dropped a free foul thrown into the basket Saturday night and thereby placed the Janesville Lakota club Cardinals in a foul on McCaffery permitted Cannon, right forward, to score a free throw. Elliott, the visiting guard, fouled Atwood, the visiting forward, and Atwood slipped through and scored after Elliott and Dalton had previously made ringers. At this score, 7 to 3, the first half ended.

Neither team was able to count during the first portion of the second half. Cannon, the visiting forward, fouled Atwood, the visiting forward, and Atwood slipped through and scored after Elliott and Dalton had previously made ringers. At this score, 7 to 3, the first half ended.

From the moment Referee George Sennett's whistle opened the game, until the exasperating physical struggle was over, with Atwood's basket, there were few moments when there was not something doing. The main portion of the game was swift in itself but the play in the extra periods was slower. It was the speediest game ever witnessed in the history of Janesville basketball.

After the first half had closed in, 7 to 3, the Cardinals ahead, Appleton brought the count to nine in all, an extra period of five minutes was agreed upon.

During this time neither team was able to score. Both five were exhausted, the Bushbys because of the large floor, and the Cardinals from the fact that they were not in condition. A second extra period was called for and when this had passed both teams were willing to leave the floor and declare the game a tie, the score being 9 to 9.

Highly strung and excited to nervousness with the sensational playing, the crowd clamored for more. There was no denying them. On the pleas of players of both teams after Managers Caldwell and Busbey had agreed on a third extra period the game was to be called, no matter whether the tie was broken or not.

After three and a half minutes of the final extra period had passed, Captain Dalton fouled Elliott, the speedy guard of the northwesterns. Cannon made the foul and gave his team the single point lead. Then they attempted to stall and they did for over fifty seconds when Dalton broke up the play. Back and forth the ball went and five shots by Janesville players came only near enough to going in the rim to make even worse the strain on the spectators.

Then came Appleton's foul and the wonderful close. Throughout the game both teams had extremely poor luck in shooting baskets. Time and time again the ball would seem to hit the bounding board in just the proper place, but it would not drop in the ring. Either team experienced having it roll around the upper inside of the ring and then see the "English" carry it up and out. The hard luck split about fifty-fifty in the regular game, but it was more like eighty-twenty during the extra periods and with the Cards handling the big end of the hard luck proportion. They had lots of delicate chances but nary a score could they get. Even five easy chances were fruitless. If the Cardinals should have scored at any time in the entire time of play, it was during the latter halves of the two final additional periods.

The Lakotas ended away to an early start and amassed five points before a foul on McCaffery permitted Cannon, right forward, to score a free throw. Elliott, the visiting guard, fouled Atwood, the visiting forward, and Atwood slipped through and scored after Elliott and Dalton had previously made ringers. At this score, 7 to 3, the first half ended.

Referee George Sennett pleased both the crowd and the teams and aside from a slight complaint at an alleged negligence in calling the Cardinals for double-dribbling no other occasion was noticeable.

Arrangements are to be made whereby the teams will play on the tie. It has not been decided whether it will be here or at Appleton, but chances are that most likely it will be decided at the auditorium. Following is the line-up and score: Lakota Cardinals, 10; Bushbys, 10. Atwood, 10; Cannon, 10; Elliott, 10; McCaffery, 10; Rein, 10; Dalton, 10; Retzo, 10; Baskets, Atwood, Retzo, 2; Field, Dalton, 2 of 5; Field, 0; Cannon, 2 of 4; Time of halves, 20 minutes. Actual playing time, 45 minutes. Referee, Sennett. Timekeepers, Ryan and Busbey.

BELGIANS IN LONDON PAYING BIG PRICE FOR HORSE FLESH TO EAT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] London, Dec. 18.—In London's Belgian quarter, entirely in the possession of Belgian refugees, horse flesh today is selling at 12 cents a pound for steaks, ten cents per pound for horse sausage and 14 cents per pound for smoked horse flesh.

BERLIN ELECTRIC CO. GIVES MUCH TO 'HELP SOLDIERS' FAMILIES IN 1916

Berlin, Dec. 18.—The General Electric company announces that during the fiscal year 1915-1916, just completed, it paid 7,548,359 marks for the support of families of its employees who have been drawn into the army. The annual report further shows that the works are fully engaged, and are devoted in large measure to the service of the empire. After deducting taxes, extra expenses, interest on obligations and sinking fund items, there remains for this year a net profit of 27,934,409 marks, as against 21,231,151 marks in 1914-15. A general stockholders' meeting has been called, at which it is planned to declare a dividend of 12 per cent, on 156 millions of marks worth of old stock, and 6 per cent on the 23 millions marks of new stock issued during the year. One million and a half will be voted to charitable purposes.

Beautiful Flowering Plants

AT THIS SEASON WE ARE SHOWING A LARGE NUMBER OF HARDY PLANTS OF SURPASSING BEAUTY. THEY ARE IN ARTISTIC RECEPTACLES FOR A PLACE IN THE HOME. WE ESPECIALLY INVITE YOU TO VISIT THE FLOWER SHOP AND SEE FOR YOURSELF THE AZALEAS, POINSETTAS, CYCLAMEN, CHRISTMAS BEGONIAS, PRIMROSES, LILIES, CELESTON PEPPERS, MAPLES AND OTHER VARIETIES. THERE IS ALSO A SPLENDID SUPPLY AT THE SOUTH MAIN STREET GREENHOUSE.

Floral Art Ware

Our floral art department is very complete and contains Flowers Vases, Jardinières, Fern Dishes, Fancy Baskets, etc., from the leading manufacturers. The nominal price will surprise you.

Floral Decorations

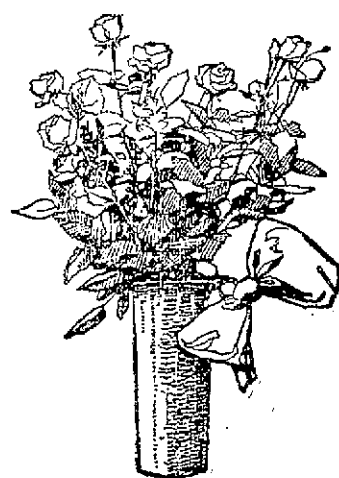

For Weddings, Receptions, Dinners, Lunches, Parties and all occasions artistically and harmoniously handled—at thoroughly moderate prices. Estimates cheerfully furnished. We know how.

Fresh Cut Flowers

Every home should always contain some beautiful, fresh, Cut Flowers. They are constant sources of enjoyment and pleasure. We have now a large and varied stock of cut flowers including Roses, Carnations, Violets, Narcissus, Sweet Peas, Lilies. We will make a specialty of Violets for Christmas day and will have a large supply. Priced reasonably. Place your orders early and secure the best stock.

FLORAL BASKETS

Our Floral Basket filled with a variety of Flowers would make an appropriate center piece for your Dinner Table. $2.00 and up

For Out of Town Buyers

We particularly urge the out-of-town buyer to use the telephone in ordering flowers from us. It greatly enhances the services we are rendering and enables us to get flowers on the way the same day they are ordered.
